Interactions between commercial fishing and marine mammals: Relevant Government frameworks

Fisheries New Zealand and the Department of Conservation are the regulatory agencies responsible for managing interactions between marine mammals and commercial fishing activities. However, a multifaceted operational environment supports the implementation of marine mammal management measures in New Zealand. This results in a complex network of activities.

OpenSeas^{NZ} The Source for New Zealand Seafood Inform

Any questions? We'll be happy to help. Visit our contact page or email us at: hello@openseas.org.nz May 2019 v1.2 For more detailed information, including assessment reports and associated references, www.openseas.org.nz/associated-spec